

Elk Program Discussed at Fish and Game Meeting

Discussions on propagation and controlling elk in the district north and east of the Crows Nest Pass in the Kananaskis road and F307 districts took precedence at the Coleman Fish and Game Trophy Night held in the Legion hall March 8th, attended by close to 150 persons.

Charles Drain, M.L.A., reported he had received letters from local sportsmen and that letters have been forwarded to Premier Harry Stromm, protesting the Game Branch's move to open the elk season in March and reduce the herd.

Mr. Drain stated that the sportsmen indicated that this was the wrong time to reduce the herd as the cows would be calving in the next five to six weeks.

Complaints from ranchers and farmers in the foothills regarding the elk moving from the mountains to the lower regions and eating the grass cattle used for winter feed also peeved the hunters, as they felt the cattlemen grazing their herds in the North Fork district was using up the grass in the reserve needed by the elk.

Mr. Drain stated he felt that there was poor communication along the line somewhere between the Forestry Department and the Game Branch. He advised the meeting that the matter would be further pursued by himself.

Tom O'Keefe, president of the Calgary Fish and Game Association, felt that providing elk winter range in the Bob Creek area of North Fork would be a solution. He urged the sportsmen to get up and fight and get their M.L.A.'s to learn the value of this resource and bring the matter up before the government.

Paul Mork, secretary manager of the Alberta Fish and Game Association, spoke briefly on large industry infringing on and taking small portions at a time of our provincial parks, including Buffalo Park and Banff for minerals development programs. He felt this practice should be curbed.

Jack Forrester, chairman of the Alberta Fish and Game membership committee advised that the association in the province now has 20,000 members. He urged each sportsman to get one more member each so that the 40,000 strong would have a good voice to apply political pressure when it is needed.

Al Krywolt, chairman of the trophy night, introduced Wayne Brown, new wildlife officer for the Pincher Creek - Crows Nest area and also Herb Birrell, Pincher Creek hunter, who later showed movies and slides on an African safari. Mr. Krywolt, on behalf of Joe Balla, Provincial President of the Alberta Fish and Game Association, who is in Lethbridge hospital, expressed best wishes to the Coleman Fish and Game Association.

Orazio Celli, project chairman of the Coleman Association, outlined projects undertaken by the local group, which indicated the new dam site northwest of Coleman was completed, and has been planted with good sized fish.

He also advised the association's project of diverting the waters of Glacier Creek into Island Lake has raised the water level double its former depth. Attempts are being made, he said, to have a boat launching facility built at the east end of the lake.

Gordon Kerr, chief biologist for the province of Alberta, opened his address by stating that if we are to have wildlife we must have a place for them and food for them to eat.

He advised the gathering that the department was not the enemy of the fishermen and hunters, but were in their position to see that the sportsmen get the best of game. He indicated the department was trying to produce a maximum of good healthy wildlife, the same as other departments were trying to develop their resources. He stated that by proper management the area in dispute could be used to satisfaction and advantage by both domestic cattle and elk herds.

He gave statistics showing that the elk herd in the North Fork district had been fairly consistent around the 1200 figure since after 1950 when there were only an estimated 500 in the district. He stated that ground surveys in 1962 and 1963 showed 640 and 709 elk respectively, 1205 from an air survey in 1964, 1400 by an air and ground survey in 1965 and 1208 by an air survey in 1966.

This season he stated the department figured there were about 1250 animals on the range and a season in March has been opened in hope that a number of elk will be killed to reduce the herd to the desired 1100.

He also stated that while it was true that while killing a cow elk in calf at the present meant two animals, he also pointed out that this same animal was pregnant during the fall season. He concluded by saying the department was trying to fit wildlife management into a program so that the land can be used successfully for multiple purposes.

A buffet lunch was served after which movies were enjoyed.

Jr. Forest Wardens and Girl Guards Entertained

On Thursday, March 13th in the Scout Hall, Greg Stevens of the Canadian Forestry Association presented a Coleman Junior Forest Wardens and Girl Guards.

The program got underway with Larry Nelson giving a resume on the activities of the Jr. Forest Wardens and Maurian Amell on the Girl Guards.

Dick Girardi of the Alberta Forest Service introduced Mr. Greg Stevens who then stressed to the Wardens and Girl Guards the importance of Conservation stating it was up to them to carry out the practice of Conservation. Following this films were shown, two short comedies, skits, the importance of Forest Fire Prevention and the Fighting of a Forest Fire in Ontario.

The program was attended by forty-five Wardens and Guards and their parents.

After the films coffee and doughnuts were served to all in attendance.

Gets Perfect Crib Hand

Another Coleman resident, Henry R. France, has won the privilege of becoming a member of the Crib 29 Club for having a perfect hand while playing with friends in Coleman March 5th.

Mr. France, who has been playing crib for over 20 years, reports this is his first perfect hand. He was dealt the Jack of Clubs and three fives and the five of clubs turned up.

He was later spotted looking around town for a seller of Irish sweepstakes tickets, figuring this was his lucky day. Mr. France was dealt the perfect hand by William Anderson.

Pass Councils Meet Highways Minister

Mayor Alrik Tiberg and Councilor Alfred McKay of Blairmore, Mayor John Holyk and Councilor Fred MacLeod of Coleman, Mayor Mrs. C. R. Jepson of Bellevue and Charles Drain, M.L.A. of Blairmore, met with Highways Minister Gordon Taylor and department representatives in Edmonton last week to discuss the proposed location of highway 3 through the Crows Nest Pass.

Main objection of the proposed route given by the town representatives was that much valuable building land would be taken by the highway. The proposed highway would go through a new subdivision being planned by the town of Coleman and in Blairmore the route would necessitate removing a number of present homes, doing away with some new sewer and water lines and using up considerable building lots.

Church Ladies' Aid Charities

A grand total of $385.00 was raised at the social evening held in the Isabelle Sellen school auditorium in Blairmore last week, sponsored by the Crows Nest Pass Church Women's groups.

The money will be divided by the ladies and sent to UNICEF, OXFAM and Save the Children Fund.

The successful event was attended by over 300 persons, who saw an excellent program under the chairmanship of Eric Price.

A welcome was expressed by Mrs. Phyllis Babcock.

Included in the program was an opening prayer and song by the children of the Pass Gospel Church; two songs by the Bellevue United Church Junior Choir; a puppet show followed by a song in Vietnamese by the Blairmore United Church Junior Choir; a piano accordion solo by Phillip Yenier of Bellevue; a recitation of a poem written for the occasion by Helen Rojek of Blairmore; a duet by Gail Githiny and Susan Collings of Coleman, a saxophone solo

The objection from Bellevue was that the highway would create problems for a resident farmer, through whose property the highway would go.

The towns suggested that rather than change the route the present highway should be upgraded and the proposed plans for the new route should be shelved until a later date. The towns indicated that the most traffic in the area is inter-town traffic and improvement of the present highway would care for through traffic.

Mr. Taylor indicated that further studies are being planned for local and through traffic counts and that soil tests and much other work had to be done before any firm decision is made.

Submissions prepared by the local councils were presented to the department of highways for their study.

by Dianne Czech, accompanied by pianist Linda Young of Coleman; a piano solo by Elaine Dobek; a vocal solo by Bonnie Dobek, accompanied by pianist Louise Costigan.

Films on the work being done by OXFAM in an African children's hospital and the work done by UNICEF in India, were shown.

Prior to the serving of coffee and donuts the event closed with the group singing of "Shalom", led by Inger Randies and Margaret Radford.

Mark 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John Sikora, highly esteemed citizens of Coleman, were honored on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary at an open house held in the Catholic hall recently, attended by more than 100 friends and relatives.

During the afternoon the couple were presented with various gifts, flowers and cards and were called upon by Mrs. S. Baruta, who on behalf of all present, gave the couple a purse of money. Both Mr. and Mrs. Sikora ably expressed their appreciation.

The couple were married in Yabloukov, Czechoslovakia, on February 27, 1919, and came to Canada in 1920, settling in Bankhead. After a short stay the family moved to Coleman, and have resided here since. Mr. Sikora, now retired, worked in the Coleman mines for over 30 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Sikora have three sons, John, Coleman; Anthony of Winnipeg, and Louis of Calgary; four daughters, Mrs. Mary Galvon of Calgary, Frances (Sister Jane of St. Joseph), of Peterborough, Mrs. R. Anne Lewis of Willowdale, Ont., and Mrs. C. Elizabeth Joyce of Calgary; 29 grandchildren and four great grandchildren. One son Joseph passed away in Barons recently.

Mr. Sikora, 79 and his wife Frances (Sick) are both enjoying good health.

C.W.L. Discuss Drugs

The Coleman Catholic Women's League at its March meeting held an interesting discussion on the present drug problem being experienced in Canada.

The discussion revolved around a recently published letter "Don't Blame Youth (Name Parents)", and it was felt by some of the ladies that little action was being taken to curb the problem despite the nearness of the problem to our area. A speaker, to enlighten the League on some of the problems of drugs, will be arranged for the April meeting.

In other League business, the ladies agreed to organize a work "B" for March 24th, when the Church interior will be cleaned up; agreed to hold a bake sale and began plans for the canvass of the town for funds for the Red Cross.

Rev. Walter Krewski who leaves Coleman this month for a new parish in Bonness, expressed thanks to the C.W.L. for their loyal support and co-operation granted to him during his stay in Coleman.

The attendance prize was won by Sofia Baruta.

Report From Parliament Hill

Postmaster General Eric Kierans has adopted a very tough stance in his effort to curb the deficits being piled up by his Department.

He has also shown a disposition to pay heed to reasonable arguments. An illustration of this, on a matter affecting many people living within the Rocky Mountain riding, is provided by the following exchange of correspondence between myself and the Postmaster General:

Feb. 5, 1969.

Dear Mr. Kierans:

Further to our recent conversation regarding the increase in the rental of Post Office boxes, I wish to advise you of the following:

Rents for Post Office boxes in many areas of my constituency are collected at different times of the year. Under instructions issued to the Postmasters, they are required 30 days before the box rental is due to so advise the holders of the boxes by placing the attached card in the box.

On January 2nd the Postmaster placed this card in the boxes where the rental was due on February 1. Many people paid the rental fees for the coming year and received a receipt for the same.

On January 18, the Post Office Department announced an increase in rates. Many of the people and Postmasters in my riding are uncertain about whether or not those people who had paid for the rental of their boxes prior to the announcement of the increase should be required to pay the difference in the old and new rates.

It is my contention that the agreement between the person renting the box and your Department would be complete when the rent was paid and therefore those persons who paid the rental fees before the announcement should not be required to pay the difference.

Yours sincerely,

Allen Sulatycky, M.P.,
Rocky Mountain.

Feb. 25, 1969.

Dear Allen:

This refers to your two letters of the 5th February concerning the matter of the increased rental charges for Post Office boxes announced for the 1st February.

As you mentioned, our rules call for Postmasters to draw the attention of box-holders to the need for renewing rentals 30 days before leases expire. In view of this, it would have been better if notice could have been given of the changes earlier than was the case. The facts were, however, that in common with our other services the costs for providing Post Office box service have been mounting sharply and present financial circumstances made it imperative to introduce the changes as quickly as possible in order to reduce the burden falling upon the general taxpayer.

Upon receipt of your letters, I asked that the legal questions involved be taken up with the Department of Justice. I am now informed that after thorough review of the statutes and precedents dealing with similar situations the opinion has been expressed that in any case where payment was made by a boxholder at a rate in effect before the 1st of February there was a completed contract between the Crown and the patrons.

Apparently, the question at law is not a simple one, but I do not propose to go into the details. I will simply say that refunds are going to be made to all who first paid the former rates and subsequently paid a further amount upon being informed of the increased rates which became effective the 1st February.

I am very grateful to you for writing me on the matter.

Yours sincerely,

Eric Kierans.

Traffic Statistics For Month Of January

Thick, iron hard ice crusted on roads through most of Alberta helped produce one of the most costly Januaries ever for traffic accidents in this province.

In its summary of traffic statistics for January, the Alberta Safety Council notes a 19 per cent jump in accidents reported for the month. There were 22 deaths, up from 18 last year. Injuries reported increased by 3 per cent from the year before.

The record for the month might have been worse for deaths. The Safety Council reports there were 243.5 accidents per death this January with bad driving conditions. When the roads are good, deaths go up in relation to the number of accidents. For example, 90.4 accidents per traffic death in Alberta last November.

Luckily, the most noticeable effect the slippery conditions had was to slow traffic down. Although there were more accidents, they tended to be less serious, and less costly in lives, injuries and dollars.

The average January accident cost about $50 less in property damage than the average 1968 accident did. The average for the month was $430. The average for 1968 was $482. The January property damage total was 2.3 million dollars.

Edmonton traffic recorded over 300 more accidents this January than for the same month in 1968. Injuries were down by 7, but two people died in the 1969 accidents, compared with no deaths in January, 1968. Calgary had 184 more accidents, 24 more injuries and the same death toll—one.

Dear Sir:

I am enclosing a cheque for $2.50 for renewal of my subscription for 1969.

I look forward to getting the paper like a letter from home.

I like Mr. Halliwell, find there are not too many familiar names, but from time to time appear names of school mates, old neighbors and people I knew in my childhood and have not seen or heard of in many years.

Kindest regards,

Fires In Buildings Under Construction Who Is To Blame?

(B. A. E. Bridges, Alberta Fire Commissioner)

This is a question that is always raised when fire damages a building even before the building is fully constructed. Building construction fires are all too common in Alberta and we may be sure that the result is that construction costs will be increased as a result of frequent fires.

We can say that the contractor is responsible for what goes on until the building is turned over to the owner and therefore, the contractors' control over workmen and over sub-contractors and their workmen is very material in this matter.

The contractor must be insured to take care of these fire risks, but of course, this already will be included in the contract price. One must wonder about a system that has an effect of shifting the responsibility to the public to share the costs of these losses.

Perhaps the answer is to be found in more rigid laws, violation of which would fix negligence and thereby produce more direct evidence of liability.

How do you build a telephone company?

We started out with a desire to fill a particular community and business need, to provide Albertans with the best possible telephone service at the lowest possible cost. Our province needed a system of modern telephones to aid its prospering economy. Of course we had to obtain the physical necessities for the system: cable, switching equipment, microwave towers, and the phone that hangs on your wall or sits on your desk.

Then we had to find people to fit all these things into place. Technicians, engineers, men who knew how to smile with their voices. Today we've an organization of 6,500 people, an investment of 420 million dollars, an integrated communications service that adds 85 million dollars of gross revenue to Alberta's economy yearly. We met every challenge — provided every type of communication service you needed. Now, we're looking to the future! — carrying out a continuing program of research and development that will continue to provide Albertans with the finest possible communications services. We know our reason for being in business. YOU!
